

Autism Services Resource Directory 2010

Adams County
Autism Coordinating Council

About this resource directory

Not knowing where to turn to for help was if often one of the first and most concerning problems for a parent whose child has been diagnosed with autism.

This resource directory is an attempt to collect in one place a snapshot of what services are currently available and how to access them.

About the Council

The Adams County Autism Coordinating Council is a voluntary group of parents, service providers, and advocates formed in 2008 in order to coordinate, share information, and advocate for services for autistic individuals and their families in Adams County.

WHERE TO START

Recommended Checklist for Newly Diagnosed Children with Autism

- Contact a developmental disability or autism-specific family support group (see page 15). Talk with other families as they may have experiences from which you could benefit.
- For children under age 3, contact the local Child and Family Connections Office (See page 5) to determine your child's eligibility for services. Also, contact the local service coordination agency, West Central Service Coordination (see page 6) to register your child on the state database for services funded by the state Division of Developmental Disabilities.
- For children 3 or older, schedule educational evaluations by contacting the Adams County Early Childhood Screening Coordinator at the Early Childhood and Family Center at 221-3494 to determine your child's educational needs.
- Schedule medical evaluations to identify your child's strengths and needs. Make appointments with recommended neurologists, developmental pediatricians, or neuropsychologists to receive a diagnosis or clarification of a diagnosis (see diagnosis and assessment section).
- Educate yourself on autism. Many books, websites, and materials are available (see Lending Library section).
- Research and begin therapy/intervention as soon as possible.
- Become informed about the special education process including IEP's (Individualized Education Programs). Attend workshops and parent trainings on IEP planning. Go to your child's IEP with your own specific goals tailored to his/her needs. Advocates and other organizations are also available to aid you with this process (see Advocacy section).
- Consider applying for Supplemental Security Income. Under the age of 18, eligibility is based on a child's parents' income. Over the age of 18, eligibility is based on the income of the person who has a disability.
- Access respite care (see Respite Providers section). Respite care is specialized child care in your home.
- Encourage your child to learn self-advocacy skills by creating decision-making and problem-solving opportunities. Plan recreational and socialization opportunities to develop social interaction skills.
- Begin estate-planning and personal futures-planning. Explore a special needs trust. Consider your child's special needs in appointing a guardian. Keep your will and/or trust up-to-date. Make preliminary goals for supported employment, socialization, and supported independent living.
- Consider the needs of other family members. Professional counseling services are available to families dealing with a special needs situation as well as sibling supports (see Counseling and Related sections).

AT AGE 13: (in addition to above recommendations)

- Begin to prepare for the Transition Plan, a component of the IEP. Set specific, individual goals. The federal law (IDEA 2004) mandates that transition planning must be included in the IEP.
- Attend workshops on transition. Contact your school district, or talk to your resource teacher or school counselor.

AT AGE 14 TO 16: in addition to above

- Consider community-based vocational instruction in the Transition Plan of the IEP.
- Apply for an Illinois ID card or driver's license at a Illinois License Bureau Office at age 16.
- Investigate options for summer volunteer/work and adult employment and independent or supported living opportunities (Transition of Adulthood / Vocational section).
- Research college programs that have supports for individuals with special learning needs if your child is eligible for these programs.
- Application for services with the Division of Rehabilitation Services can begin as early as age 14.5 for those attending a high school with a STEP contract. If they are in a school without STEP, application for services should begin at 16 and the DRS counselor should be invited to the IEP.

AT AGE 18: in addition to previous recommendations

- Apply for SSI and Medicaid if needed. Eligibility is now based on client's income.
- Register to vote.
- Explore continuing education programs to support students with disabilities. Re-visit adult service providers to investigate new options for employment and supported living.
- Discuss future plans and gather specific information about transition to adult life. Update future plan with your school and include work experience as a major IEP component.
- Check on health insurance coverage for your child. Some insurance companies require an application for a dependent child with a disability before the age of 19.

AT AGE 20 (or year of leaving school): In addition to previous

- Discuss with Independent Service Coordination agency which adult service agencies your child will be utilizing. Make contact with adult services agencies to begin the enrollment process.
- Continue to plan for future living arrangements, either supported or independent. Increase independence through socialization opportunities.

FIRST POINTS OF CONTACT - ADAMS COUNTY

For children under age 3:

■ Child and Family Connections

Karla Richmond, Program Manager
510 Maine, Suite 615
Quincy, IL 62301
(888) 222-9592

Provides evaluation & assessments of children 0-3 years old whose parents have concerns about their child's development. For Illinois residents with a child age under age 3. Evaluations and assessments no-cost, sliding fee if child needs ongoing services. If eligible, links family to an array of services to assist with their child's healthy development.

For children age 3 or older:

■ Adams County Special Education Association

Kristen Kendrick
1416 Maine
Quincy, IL 62301
217-222-8700

Upon parental request, provides evaluations to determine if a child is eligible for Special Education services and to gather information that will help determine a child's educational needs.

For adults (or children of any age):

■ West Central Service Coordination (which covers Adams County)

957 West Washington
Pittsfield, IL 62363
(217) 285-5227
(888) 279-4812 (Toll-free)

Determines eligibility for and coordinates services funded by the State of Illinois, DHS Division of Developmental Disabilities. Possible services include in-home supports, respite care, training programs, residential living arrangements, and adaptive equipment. WCSC is the designated agency for enrolling individuals in the state database for individuals who think they may need services in the next 5 years. The PUNs (Prioritization of Urgency of Need) database has 3 different categories: Emergency is for those in crisis. Critical is for those who want services in the next year. Planning is for those wanting services in the next 5 years. Being placed on the database is an important part of getting on the "radar" for receiving services in the future.

DIAGNOSTIC EVALUATIONS FOR AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDERS

KEY INFORMATION:

The Illinois Early Intervention program provides free developmental evaluations for children ages birth to three. (See page 6).

The local school district is responsible for providing free diagnostic educational evaluations for all children over age 3. Contact your local school district to initiate this process. These educational evaluations are conducted in order to determine a child's educational needs, not necessarily to make a "medical" diagnosis of an autism spectrum disorder.

Eligibility determined by disability (condition) and financial guide lines set by the Federal Government. Illinois residents, Quincy office serves Adams, Hancock, Pike, and Calhoun counties. Students with disabilities attending local public schools can receive rehabilitation services through the secondary transition experience program known as STEP. Beginning at age 14 1/2 , STEP helps students with disabilities prepare for their future by helping students, families and schools develop training employment and community living skills needed by persons who are in the course of transitioning from high school to their adult years. Coordinates with Two Rivers, PELL, MAP, and other service organizations. STEP ends with high school graduation but the individual can continue with DRS services toward employment.

HIS Ranch is a ministry that offers horse-care and horseback riding lessons free of charge to children who choose to take advantage of this service. We also offer many other activities such as fishing, gardening, wood-working and perhaps a variety of others as we grow and develop. Our focus is somewhat for those who are at a disadvantage because of the circumstances of life, but we will be available to all children -any age - or adults too, if the need arises.

The Home Services Program provides services to individuals with severe disabilities so they can remain in their homes and live as independently as possible.

Participants must:

- be under 60 unless in AIDS or Brain Injury Medicaid Waiver Programs.
- apply for Medicaid – do not have to qualify. Must cooperate with agency to complete application process.
- have assets under asset limit – different for individuals under 18 than those 18 and older.
- have a severe disability that will last 12 months or longer or for the duration of life.
- be at imminent risk of nursing home placement.
- require services in the home that cost the same or less than nursing home costs.
- be an Illinois resident with U.S. citizenship or show proof of legal entry in to United States.
- have a physician's approval of the initial plan of care.

HSP Staff will visit the home to discuss eligibility and availability of services. They will complete an application and financial information forms. Releases will be obtained for medical documentation and to obtain a physician's certification that services are needed and appropriate.

Fees: This service is funded by the State of Illinois. The participants are not required to provide any funds for services on the care plan if they are approved for services.

Illinois Family Assistance & Home Based Support Services Programs

The Home-Based Support Services Program tailors services to help adults with disabilities live at home. The Family Assistance Program makes monthly cash payments to families of children with severe disabilities. The Illinois Department of Human Services accepts applications and selects as many individual and family participants as funding will allow. Funds typically are appropriated for the programs during the spring session of the General Assembly. If funding is sufficient to allow enrollment of additional persons, new persons are selected by a random drawing during the summer. If such a drawing is held in a given year, families and individuals whose applications are received by May 31 of that year are eligible.

The Family Assistance Program pays a monthly stipend to help with the costs of caring for a child (age 17 or younger) with a severe mental disability. Participating families receive approximately $5,000 to $7,000 yearly.

The Home-Based Support Services Program pays for services to help adults (age 18 or older) become more independent living on their own or with their families. Participating adults are entitled to services worth approximately $17,000 to $19,000 per year.

Eligibility: Adults must be eligible for federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Social Security Disability Income (SSDI). The household income for the eligible child must be less than $50,000 per year after deductions. (Look on your Income Tax Form for your family's "taxable income." If the child is a foster child, only his or her income is considered.)
